Washington Gossip.
"Dr." Leo, Louisiana appears to be well liked in Washington and various other cities of the north.

The president appointed James M. Childs as Maine to be United States consul at Portland, Maine, and James H. Trumbull to the United States consul at Tallahassee, Fla.

Secretary General Garland's relations with the president are said to be considerably strained and his resignation is looked for.

Richard Smith, an aged colored man, visited the White House and "shook" with Grover. He has shaken hands with every president since Lincoln and has been talking indiscreetly about her.

While Andrew Rush of Atlanta, Ga., was conferring with his wife, Mrs. Frank Oglesby standing outside the house looking in. "I'll show you how to cave-speak," he said, "and you'll be a lady in five minutes."

Burglars broke into the parsonage of St. Bernard's (Catholic) church at Watertown, Wis., and entering the bed room of the Rev. Father Candion, the assistant pastor, administered chloroform to him and then suddenly demanded carrying off his silver watch worth $15, and $5 in money.

The United States court at New York is now sitting in the case of William S. Warner, who reaped a fortune out of the firm of Grant & Ward. A charge against him is said to be that he had been taking in money from the firm of Grant & Ward.

The latest phase of the defalcation case of J. J. Kelly, the former post office clerk whose stealing amounted to $100,000, is that he has resigned and fled to Canada. Kelly is said to be a man of considerable means and a wife, to whom he has been married for some time.

A few days ago the unusual spectacle was witnessed in Edgely, S. C., of twenty-two well known white citizens of that county who, in the presence of a large crowd, were taken into custody and locked up in jail on warrants, charging them with murder in lynching O. J. Kelly, a colored man, a prominent and well-to-do lawyer, and a man of good business ability.

Cannon Farrar of Westminster, abbeys, and Washington, D. C., is said to be the residence of Mrs. McAlister Langhorne, an old friend, whose great he will be while in the city. President Cleveland has been invited to him to become a guest at the White House, but the canon was comparatively delicate because of arrangements previously made.

In the case of the postoffice at Vinton, Mo., Mr. Paine, who resigned, was appointed to the postoffice at Vinton, Mo., upon petition that appeared to be very proper. The case of the postoffice at Vinton, Mo., is said to be a case of the postoffice at Vinton, Mo., and is said to be a case of the postoffice at Vinton, Mo.

Gen. Hazen has put his foot into it again, as everybody always expects he will when he takes hold of a pen, or opens his mouth. He has written a letter to the Washington editor of the New York Herald, Judge Mackay has informed him that he has sent you a copy of the "Hazen Court Martial." I have to ask as a personal favor that you have been kind enough to send me a copy for publication. He informs me that any expense connected with it will be met.

Brainerd Dispatch.

Issued every Friday morning at Brainerd, Minn. Terms $1.50 per year in ADVANCE.

N. H. Ingersoll, Editors and Proprietors.
F. W. Wieland.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF CROW WING, CASS, and Itasca counties.

Entered at the Post Office at Brainerd, Minn., as second class matter.

The electric head light, as tested by the Northern Pacific, is found to work very satisfactorily. It makes a magnificent light and an object the size of a man can be seen by the engineer a mile away.

Riel was notified of a further respite till Nov. 10. He expressed disgust because it was not a reprieve, as he confidently expected.
He continues in good spirits, and expresses the opinion freely that he will not be hanged.

Hon. Soren Listoe and family of Fergus Falls, left Monday morning for Copenhagen Denmark where they will spend the winter, returning home some time in April.
Mr. Listoe will continue his literary work and translations.

John Flynn received his commission as Postmaster at Duluth last Friday. He appointed Charles Cash his deputy. Cash is a republican, but too much of a business man to be an offensive partisan.
The new officials took charge of the office the first of the week.

The east bound train on the Northern Pacific branch ran into a herd of cattle Tuesday evening near the Page mill. The cattle belonged to H. G. Page. They were being driven along the track by two men. The engineer saw them and shut off steam and reversed his engine so that when the engine struck them it had nearly stopped. It struck in the midst of a whole bunch, and broke the legs of four animals, which were shot afterwards. The accident was clearly the fault of the drovers.— Fergus Falls Journal.

A disappointed faction of the Democratic party of Minnesota are after Pat Kelly and Mike Doran, says the Duluth Herald, with a suffed club and the club is not stuffed with down either.
Circulars have been issued and sent out to all the state committees calling a meeting of Minnesota Democrats who are expected to adopt resolutions asking President Cleveland to choose some one besides the two sachens to distribute the government patronage in Minnesota. This movement does not seem to cause those gentlemen much uneasiness for they feel themselves pretty solid with the administration and are going right along with their business of securing places for the favored ones.

It's Bound to Come.
Brainerd is anticipating a big lift from the Northern Pacific railroad. A rumor of a large addition to the shops there is what they base their hopes on.—Duluth Herald

Thinks it Won't Pay.
Brainerd is to have a daily paper in the spring. In the light of past experience it is safe to assert that the newspaper man who undertakes to conduct a daily in Brainerd will be out of luck.—Princeton Union.

On The Ragged Edge.
W. W. Hartley, the Republican postmaster at Brainerd, is on the ragged edge, and will probably have to go. It beats all how some of these federal officials hang on.—
Elk River Star-News.

The DISPATCH predicts that W.
W. Hartley remains in possession of his Brainerd postoffice until his commission expires.

Brainerd is not exempt.
"The tramp season has set in early this year, the general warmth of the atmosphere considered. The influx we are now suffering from came from the harvest fields of the north. The walking must have been excruciating for they were long overdue. But they are now coming in by the dozen, and they are taxing our limited resources and park facilities to the utmost. They are all fat broke, and as the autumn winds begin to whistle through their attenuated raiment the watchful citizen should keep one eye on the larder and the other on his coal bins.—Ex.

A Hard Sight.
The Aitkin Age says: "It was a hard sight on yesterday to see the two victims of the unfortunate railroad disaster put into a rough pine box each and hustled off to the cemetery no coffin, no shroud, no one to say a prayer or shed a tear over them. After life's fitful dream they sleep well." What a mockery.

What became of the $20 found on their person? That would surely procure for them a decent burial.

Looking for Men.
O. C. Houghton, of the N. P. R.
R. is engaging men to go to Montana for the purpose of cutting 300,000 cords of wood for Caplice & McCune on a contract with the Ameconda smelter, the largest establishment of its kind in the west. The prices offered are from $1.15 to $1.50 per cord, the men engaged being required to deposit twenty dollars for their railroad ticket to that point, which sum is returned to them on the second pay day of the contractors.

Sudden Death Near Lake Sybil.
Rev. James Omanns, a Second Adventist minister, who is well known in the northern part of the county, conducted divine services at 2 p. m. last Sunday in the school house at Lake Sybil, the last time he expected to preach there for some time to come. He then started to walk home, some five or six miles, in the direction of Luice station, carrying his heavy Bible on his arm. That was the last time he was seen alive. On Monday morning his body was found on the road midway between the two points. He had evidently been seized suddenly, for he had fallen backwards, and still held the large Bible clasped in his
arm. Deputy Sheriff Butler was notified and telegraphed the coroner, who thought there was no necessity for an inquest, and the funeral occurred from the home of the deceased on the day following
—Fergus Falls Journal.

Miller, The Murderer Must Hang.

The Grand Forks Herald says that the Supreme Court at Deadwood affirmed the view of the law taken by Judge McConnell and District Attorney Selby in the Miller murder case and the execution will take place on the 30th as originally fixed. This morning Sheriff Jenks and Rev. P. Doran, of the M. E. church called on Miller, and communicated to him his fate.
He said that was just what he expected, that he had not built any hopes for a change in the decision of the court and said he could be reconciled to die if Rutherford had accompanied him to the scaffold.
He firmly reiterated his former implication of Rutherford. Pastor Doran engaged in some spiritual conversation with the prisoner and gave him such consolatory word as are suitable under such solemn circumstances. The hanging will take place in the corridor of the jail at Grand Forks and will be private, only a few friends and peace officers being admitted.
The sheriff has refused admission to over 500 applicants.

The Walton Case.
The Methodist church conference for the Minnesota district in session at Rochester, had the Walton case before them for discussion.
The Pioneer Press Special says of it: The case of J. Walton, who is charged with outraging a girl at Wadeia, was brought up and elicited some discussion. The committee recommended that his character be passed and recited that a motion for a new trial was granted on the ground that three of the jurors committed perjury and that the complaining witness was incompetent. Mr. Walton was tried in a civil court and found guilty. He was tried in an ecclesiastical court and acquitted.
Presiding Elder McClary that it was untrue that the new trial was granted for the reason stated. It was on a mere legal technicality.
It was stated that a full report of evidence had been sent to the committee but had not been opened by them. He wanted the report amended and no action taken till the result of the new trial was known. Mr. Walton was present and defended himself.
He was confident of being cleared of the charge, and wanted a full and fair investigation. The case was referred finally to the presiding elder of the Minneapolis district for investigation, no work to be assigned him this year.

The Growth of the North West Is not more astonishing than the growth of the twin cities, St.
Paul and Minneapolis. One prominent factor in this growth is the Railroad, and among the numerous railroads none have done more or are more popular, or more deserving of popularity, than the "Omaha and Northwestern," which operated as one, form what is best known to the traveling public as The Royal Route. With three distinct lines spreading out from St. Paul and Minneapolis, and Chicago; St. Paul Minneapolis and Des Moines; and St. Paul, Minneapolis, Omaha and Kansas City. The Chicago Line of the Royal Route deserves special mention because of the Fast Through Trains with their Elegant Equipment, in which Speed, Safety and every Comfort are combined, making it a pleasure to travel on such a well managed and Splendidly Equipped Route. Another thing to make a note of is that The Royal Route is the only route connecting in the same Depots at St.
Paul and Minneapolis with all trains from the North. If you are about to travel, our advice is to secure tickets over The Royal Route, and if you buy through from your starting point you will save money. Write T. W. Teasdale, General Passenger Agent, St.
Paul, before starting, and he will mail you, free of charge, maps and pamphlets showing routes and connections, to the points you wish to visit.

Heavy Northern Pacific Land Sale.

New York Special Telegram
Oct. 22.—The largest sale of land ever made by the Northern Pacific railroad was consummated today by the unanimous action of the board of directors of the Northern Pacific railway. The tracts sold comprise a number of miles of land in the northeastern part of Minnesota amounting in all to about one hundred and thirteen thousand acres, more or less. The amount realized by the company is not exactly known, as it will depend on the grading of the timber lands, but the land commissioner estimates that at least $7 per acre will be netted by the company, or a total sum of more than $700,000.
The purchase money is part in cash and the balance, say $500,000, in preferred stock. This will retire from circulation over 5,000 shares of this stock. The purchasers are a number of capitalists headed by Charles Watrous of New York, and the sale is supposed to have been brought about by Senator Sabin of Minnesota who is also a member of the purchasing syndicate. The great body of the lands are heavily timbered, and it is the intention of the new owners to begin the manufacture of lumber on a large scale at once.
The result will be a large addition of population to the Northwestern part of Minnesota, and considerable business to the Northern Pacific railroad. The negotiations for the sale of the land has been going on for about a year. The Northern Pacific company since its reorganization has sold over 5,500,000 acres of land for more than $20,000,000. Other heavy land sales are likely. Negotiations for a 20,000-acre and a 13, 000-acre tract are in progress, and there is a universal inquiry for smaller lots.

A girl writes to the Cincinnati Enquirer that she has invented and wishes to patent a combination bustle and chair. She explains that the bustle is constructed like the usual article, to be worn under the draperies of a dress, and seat of a chair, arranged so that when the wearer bends to sit down they will automatically drop into place to support her.

An Irish female has been recently put between the wheels of the Great Northern Pacific freight car tongues at Long Branch. During the occupancy of this cottage there was no fence. The laws of the two cottages were in common. The title to this cottage property is Mrs. Grant's possession. It was not included in the property turned over to Vanderbilt to secure the $150,000 made to Gen. Grant the Sunday before the firm of Grant & Ward failed.

The electric head light, as tested
object the size of a man could be seen by the engineer a mile away.

respite till Nov. 10. He expressed
prieve, as he confidently expected.
He continues in good spirits, and expresses the opinion freely that he will not be hanged.

ing home some time in April.
Mr. Listoe will continue his literary work and translations.

mission as Postmaster at Duluth
Cash his deputy. Cash is a repub-
man to be an offensive partisan.

a herd of cattle Tuesday evening
were being driven along the track
Fergus Falls Journal.

Democratic party of Minnesota
are after Pat Kelly and Mike
is not stuffed with down either.
sent out to all the state committees calling a meeting of Minne-
to adopt resolutions against President Cleveland to choose some one besides the two scoundrels to dis-
does not seem to cause those
ness of securing places for the
favored ones.

It's Bound to Come.
Brainerd is anticipating a big
ald.

Thinks it Won't Pay.
to conduct a daily in Brainerd will
be out of luck.—Princeton Union.

On The Ragged Edge.
W. W. Hartley, the Republican
postmaster at Brainerd, is on the ragged edge. He will probably
of these federal officials hang on.—
Elk River Star-News.

The DISPATCH predicts that W.
W. Hartley remains in possession of the Brainerd postoffice until his commission expires.

Brainerd is not Exempt.
of the atmosphere causing the
are taxing our lumber yards and park facilities to the utmost. They are all flat broke, and as the au-
other on his coal bins.—Ex.

A Hard Sight.
railroad disaster put in a rough pine box each and hustled off to
the cemetery no coffin, no shroud,
mockery."

What become of the $20 found
on their person? that would surely
procure for them a decent burial.

Looking for Men.
O. C. Houghton, of the N. P. R.
R. is engaging men to go to
200,000 cords of wood for Caprice & McCune on a contract with the Anaconda Smelter, the largest establishment of its kind in the world. The prices offered are from
engaged being required to deposit
pay day of the contractors.

Sudden Death Near Lake Sybil.
Rev. James Orians, a Second Adventist minister, is well known in the northern part of the
school house at Lake Sybil, in the last home he expected to preach there for some time to come. He
Luce station, carrying his heavy
arm. Deputy Sheriff Butler was
the deceased on the day following.

District Attorney Selby in the
Miller murder case and the ex-
as originally fixed. This morning Sheriff Jones and Rev. F. Doran,
of the M. E. church called on Miller,
and communicated to him his fate.
to accompany him to the scaffold.
He firmly reiterated his former
gave him such consolatory words
peace officers being admitted.
The sheriff has refused admission
to over 500 applicants.

The Walton Case.
for the Minnesota district in ses-
case before them for discussion.
at Walena, was brought up and
was tried in a civil court and
ecclesiastical court and acquitted.
Presiding Elder McClary said that it was untrue that the new trial was granted for the reason stated.
It was on a mere legal technicality.
It was stated that a full report of
present and defended himself.
siding elder of the Minneapolis

Heavy Northern Pacific Land Sale.

Oct. 22.—The largest sale of land
board of directors of the Northern
comprise a number of townships Northeastern part of Minnesota amounting in all to about one hundred and thirteen thousand acres, more or less. The amount
the grading of the timber lands,
total sum of $700,000. The purchase money is part in cash and the balance, say $600,000,
in preferred stock. This will re-
shares of this stock. The purchas-
headed by Charles Watrous of
is also a member of the purchas-
of lumber on a large scale at once.
The result will be a large addition
land sales are likely. Negotiations for a 20,000-acre and a 13, 000-acre tract are in progress, and
there is a universal inquiry for
smaller lots.

to patent a combination buscle chair.
She explains that the buscle P.
constructed like the usual article,
to worn under the draperies of a dir, as, but that within it are adjusted the legs and seat of a chair, arranged so that when the wearer bends to sit down they will automatically drop in, place to support her.

As there has been very little rain between the Chicago and the Grant cottages at Long Branch. During Grant's occupancy of this cottage Vero was no more in common. The title to this cottage property is in Mrs. Grant's

THE WIFE'S REVERIE.

From a Saxe Holm story—"Farmer Bue's Romance."

O heart of mine, is your estate—O sweet estate of joy—assured?
 Brought by such bitter pains endured; Dares we forget those sorrows sore
 And think that they will come no more?

With doubtful eyes I scan my face,
 And doubt how I can look so fair; Wastful, I watch each charm and grace That other women have to spare.
 All the secrets of love's lore,
 I know but one—to love him more!

I see each day he grows more wise,
 His life is broader far than mine;
 I must be lacking in my eyes,
 In many things where others shine.
 "Heart," can I think less restore To him by simply loving more?

I often see upon his brow
 A look half tender and half stern;
 His thoughts are far away, I know;
 To whom then I warmly love,
 But nought is ours that went before, O heart! we can but love him more!

Some times think that he had loved In other, deeper love apart From this which I have moved To my heart, O heart O heart!
 Must we not spend our lives apart Nothing to him but love him more!

A CUP OF WATER.

Youth's Companion.

The Apaches are the most subtle Indians on the American Continent.
 Time and again they have outwitted the veteran campaigners sent against them; and the skillful scouts, who have won their spurs elsewhere, have been completely unhorsed by those peerless knights of the plains.

Some years ago, when a lieutenant of cavalry, I commanded the escort of a little train on its way through the northern portion of Arizona from New Mexico. We were met by the Apaches try, and consequently were without any excuse for being taken of our guard.

When I add that we rode over a perfectly dry and level prairie, with only the blue line of the Zuni Mountains visible against the distant horizon, it will be supposed that the last danger we had to fear was from the red men. All our company were Indian fighters; but while we were passing across the parched plain, with the cattle train a half mile to the rear, and with our selves on the alert, we are utterly outwitted, and our friends disastrously ambushed.

We rode within a hundred yards of a large force of dismounted Indians, without once suspecting the astonishing fact. Some time later, when we were startled by sudden firing behind us, we looked back and saw our friends engaged in a fierce fight with a party of Apaches. Where the swartly assailants came from passed conjecture.
 The country, for miles in every direction, as I have said, was a blasted plain. A jack rabbit would have been detected, as he whisked like a ray of light across the yellow surface, and yet more than a score of warriors had hidden themselves from our sight when scarcely a stone's throw away.

We dashed back to the help of the undamaged horsemen, but the latter could reach them several were badly wounded, and the cattle were skirring southward in a cloud of dust. We rode a mile or two, and then, for a mile, but the riders, a number of whom had secured horses, got away without losing a stolen animal, or leaving a wounded warrior behind.

The Apaches were not far off, and knowing the route we were to take, stretched themselves on the ground along the trail. They scant clothing, their bodies were the color of the earth upon which they lay flat and motionless. The dry, stunted grass was gathered about their heads and shoulders with the same effect, as I have shown, we rode by the party without the slightest suspicion of danger.

In the autumn of 1882, Captain Arthur Burnham and fourteen cavalrymen, accompanied by the young son of the officer, were sent on a mission to the Zuni hills to the west of the San Francisco mountains, which for many miles extended between New Mexico and Arizona.

tors (because an exclamation which escaped him sounded like that word) worshipping, coarse, black hair loose about his shoulders, and very fine teeth, was swartly of complexion, and his eyes were as dark as midnight.

The wife of Captain Burnham was Spanish lady, living in San Antonio, Texas. The son inherited her dark color and handsome features. His hair was long and silken, and his movements were as easy and graceful as those of Zidda.

The Apache, however, was barefoot his shoulders to his waist. Below was a pair of gaily Mexican trousers brilliantly-beaded moccasins, while a heavy golden bracelet adorned his right wrist. A faded sash encircled his waist, and as a rule, wore hav-dies of a couple of knives protruded therefrom, while a cartridge box was suspended from his shoulder by a string. The rifle which he cast aside, like most of those used by the Apaches, was a breach-loader of the latest improved pattern.

The novelty of Zidda's company wore off in the course of an hour or two, and the general opinion prevailed that the best thing to do was to ignore him, and thus, through the vacancy at the head of the horde of untamable red men, Capt. Burnham no disposition to show the savage little fellow any mercy, and there can be little doubt but that he would have been shot but for the intercession of young Jack. He saw the proposed crime in its true light, and begged his father that Zidda might be held a prisoner.

The Apaches have white women stantly returned. The red men had regained their own mustangs and by the reins manœuvre, separated Jack Burnham from the Apaches. When the captain and the rest of his men sprang into their saddles again, they saw the boy urging his steed to theut-

That's all on account of the cup of water given you by my father," said the officer, compressing his lips;
 "they have singled out my Jack for capture that they may put him to the torture; come, boys, let work awake us!"

Leaving their wounded comrades, who could not stand the terrific riding, Burnham rushed before their flight, as eager as he to save the imperilled youth.

The picture was a thrilling one. In the distance could be seen the black mustang of Jack Burnham stretching away on a dead run, head extended, mane and tail flying, while the cloak of the rider streamed in the wind.

Less than 200 yards behind the flying fugitive, were the Apaches thundering after him. All were excitedly mounted, and there are no finer horsemen in the world.

The singular double race had considerable effect upon the men, when the fearful truth became manifest, the Apaches were better mounted than either the fugitive or their own pursuiters, and were steadily gaining upon Jack Burnham.

The boy was seen to glance frightfully over his shoulder several times, but he, too, kept his mustang running as fast as his legs could carry him, drew him into a narrow valley in the mountains, which led, no one beside the Apache could tell where.

Jack Burnham was the only one of his father. Seeing that he was losing ground, he abruptly wheeled around at right angles, and dashed into a still deeper ravine, before their flight sent it. This manœuvre shut him from sight of friends and foes, for a minute or two, but the latter felt that he was not far off, and they gave utterance to many shouts of exultation as they thundered after him.

When Captain Burnham, whose face was white as death, one spoke, but with the same resolve in every heart, they plunged into the gorge for both parties.

A brief, heavy run and the race was decided; the Apaches had overtaken the fugitive. The troopers saw the mustang and its rider, his hair and clothing were all in a confusion, and the red men who had captured them beyond all chance of escape.

Still Captain Burnham and his men pressed on, and the Apaches, who were not an Indian was visible; their mustangs had carried them, and their captive beyond reach.

Jack Burnham, when, finding it was a hopeless chase, he wheeled his horse, and the Apaches, who were not an Indian was visible; their mustangs had carried them, and their captive beyond reach.
